Enredaderas

Using the attached image as the exact art style reference (same pixel art technique, same linework thickness, same cel-shading, same color grading and saturation), generate a new object in this identical style:

A dense tangle of thick jungle vines blocking a forest path, woven tightly together from ground to overhead, dark green with a few small thorns, small leaves and tiny flowers scattered across the tangle, a slightly frayed section suggesting it could be cut through.

Flat neutral gray background, no scenery, isolated object centered in frame, sized to look like a scenery obstacle rather than a small pickup item. Do not change the art style, linework, or shading technique from the reference image.

Escena del mono robando el mapa

Using the attached character images as exact visual references for Anne and the protagonist's appearance (do not alter their faces, clothing, or design), and matching the same pixel art style, linework, and shading across all characters, generate a wide action scene:

In a dense jungle clearing, a small mischievous monkey clutches a torn piece of an old map and dashes away mid-leap, glancing back playfully. Anne and the male protagonist (as shown in the reference images) reach out and give chase, mid-run, surprised and determined expressions. Thick foliage, tall trees, dappled sunlight through the canopy, motion lines suggesting a fast chase.

Flat pixel art shading matching the reference character images exactly, consistent proportions and line weight. Playful, energetic atmosphere rather than combat.

Troncos

Using the attached image as the exact art style reference (same pixel art technique, same linework thickness, same cel-shading, same color grading and saturation), generate a new object in this identical style:

A large fallen tree trunk blocking a forest path, thick bark texture, tangled roots and vines wrapped around it, a few small mushrooms and moss patches growing on top, a visible fresh cut mark on one end suggesting it could be chopped through.

Flat neutral gray background, no scenery, isolated object centered in frame, sized to look like a scenery obstacle rather than a small pickup item. Do not change the art style, linework, or shading technique from the reference image.

Escena del marino pidiendo su insignia

Using the attached character images as exact visual references for Anne and the protagonist's appearance (do not alter their faces, clothing, or design), and matching the same pixel art style, linework, and shading across all characters, generate a wide scene:

At the edge of the same murky lake, the vengeful drowned navy soldier's ghost now floats calmly, weapon lowered, sorrowful expression instead of rage. He reaches out with an open translucent hand, projecting a faint glowing image of a naval insignia or medal above his palm, as if asking for it to be found and returned so his betrayal can finally be proven. Anne and the male protagonist (as shown in the reference images) stand attentively, weapons lowered, listening.

Flat pixel art shading matching the reference character images exactly, consistent proportions and line weight. Melancholic, mysterious atmosphere rather than combat.

Escena pelea con el marino

Using the attached character images as exact visual references for Anne and the protagonist's appearance (do not alter their faces, clothing, or design), and matching the same pixel art style, linework, and shading across all characters, generate a wide action scene:

At the edge of a murky lake, Anne and the male protagonist (as shown in the reference images) fight against a vengeful drowned navy soldier's ghost rising from the water, translucent pale blue-green glow, tattered remains of a formal navy uniform, dripping spectral water, one hand raised threateningly. Weapons raised on both sides, mid-combat tension, rippling water and mist rising from the lake surface, dim overcast lighting.

Insignia del marino

Using the attached image as the exact art style reference (same pixel art technique, same linework thickness, same cel-shading, same color grading and saturation), generate a new object in this identical style:

An old tarnished naval officer's insignia medal, faded brass or bronze metal with a corroded greenish patina, engraved with a small anchor and star emblem, attached to a frayed and faded ribbon, slightly bent and weathered from being underwater for a long time.

Flat neutral gray background, no scenery, isolated object centered in frame, sized appropriately as a small pickup item. Do not change the art style, linework, or shading technique from the reference image.
